

Venture Newsletter Terms and Conditions

About Terms of Use:

We are Venture Education (“we”, “us”, “our”), an education consultancy company who has launched the Venture Newsletter. Our aim of the newsletter is to provide quarterly updates and information surrounding the education sector in China. By accessing the Venture Newsletter, you agree to be bound to the following terms and conditions:

1. Frequency

The frequency of the Venture Newsletter is four times a year.

2. Registration

You may access the Venture Newsletter by registering to become a subscriber. By doing so, you are agreeing to submit accurate information, including name, email address and company if applicable.

We may terminate your registered account if we believe you have not complied with the terms and conditions.

3. Limited Liability

We reserve the right to terminate the newsletter or amend the content at any given time without your consent.

We may change the terms and conditions for legal or business purposes at any given time. We will provide you notice of any significant change to the terms and conditions.

We are not liable or legally responsible for any action you take after reading our newsletter, whether these consequences include, but are not limited to:

- Loss of business profits (loss of revenue, sales, or business opportunity)
- Any personal loss
- Any loss of a non-subscriber

Our aim is to provide our company research and opinions on the current climate of education in China. We are not liable for any action taken after this.

4. Use of Material

Your use of the Venture Newsletter is for personal and non-commercial use. You may use statistics and quotes from our newsletter on the condition that it has been referenced with:

- Our company name (Venture Education)
- Date of when the newsletter article was published